To

C.S. Balasundaram Iyer, Esquire, B.A.,
Chief Secretary to the Government of His
Highness the Maharaja of Mysore.

Through

L. H. Beckwith, Esquire, A.R.S.M.,
Ag. Chief Inspector of Mines in Mysore,
Ooregum.

Sir,

I have the honour to submit for the information and early orders of Government the accompanying file of correspondence ending with my letter No.157, dated 7th May 1920, in the matter of the possession of certain explosives in a dwelling house by the Superintendent, Kolar Gold Field Prospecting Department in connection with the quarrying operations conducted by him on behalf of the Mysore Gold Mining Company, Ld., at Sakrasanahalli of the Bowringpet Taluk.

Returned to the Chief Inspector of Mines vide O. No 6286-20.

2. The question raised in the papers under reference is whether under the proviso to condition 2 of license Form E, of the Revised Explosives Rules of 1917, explosives other than gunpowder may be kept in a dwelling house and if so, up to what limit.

W

3. Rule 5 of the Old Explosives Rules permitted bona-fide users of explosives, unconditional possession of 30 pounds of gunpowder or 15 pounds of any other explosive, on obtaining a non-objection certificate from the Superintendent of Police and a nominal fee of four annas was prescribed therefor.

4. As this procedure was dilatory and not altogether satisfactory, in as much as the possession of Explosives did not come under the cognizance of the District Magistrate, a License in Form E, free of charge, was introduced in the Revised Rules of 1917 on the lines of the Government of India Revised Explosives Rules. But under the proviso to condition 2 of this license only gunpowder, not exceeding 50 pounds in quantity, is authorized to be possessed in a dwelling house, in a receptacle exclusively appropriated for the purpose.

5. This relaxation has not been provided for in the case of "any other explosive" and a strict adherence to the condition and the proviso as they stand at present, required that the latter class of explosives has to be stored only in a substantially constructed uninflammable building (evidently a Magazine) or a fireproof safe with a clearance of 50 yards all round.

6. Besides, the amount of (high) explosives other than gunpowder, that can be licensed under this form is only 10 pounds which may be regarded as equivalent to 20 pounds of gunpowder but the storage conditions imposed in respect of the same is unduly severe and unfair.

7. To insist on the erection of a building (Magazine) as above detailed or installing of a fireproof safe for this small quantity of explosive would apparently be unnecessary and prohibitive and it seems to me that following the old rules which permitted unconditional storage of 15 pounds of "any other explosive" we may safely provide similar facility in the Revised Rules also, without exceeding the limit in regard to the quantity of explosive, beyond the 50 pounds of gunpowder already authorized to be stored in a dwelling house in a receptacle.

8. This would require a slight modification of the proviso to condition 2 of license Form E somewhat as follows:- The proviso as modified would read "Provided that 30 pounds of gunpowder and 10 pounds of any other explosive and 100 detonators may be kept inside a dwelling house &c.".

9. The necessity for the modification has been suggested by the case referred to above and I am of opinion that the storage of 10 pounds of high explosives in a dwelling house under proper care is not more dangerous or risky than possession of 50 pounds of gunpowder already permitted by the proviso.

10. I request you therefore to be so good as to move the Government to approve of the alteration suggested above and notify the same at an early date.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

A. F. Sellers
